and passed by the member. Here is a question of funds and the financial Secretary has to be consulted. From the statement attached to the petition it is seen that the work has increased and it is for consideration whether ad hoc arrangements for a period of one year may not be sanctioned, provided Sanction is provided for by the Chief Court.

Secy 6/4/23 (2) Whether 75 lines or about three pages a day is sufficient work for an official drawing Rs 50/- a month, has got to be considered. The proposals involves a Cost Rs 100/- a month to which the Financial Secretary is not likely to agree. Till there is absolute necessity for an increase in the staff, no action need be taken. When the Chief Court was consulted, as to why the Clerks there should not undertake all translation work, they asked for more hands. (vide file below). The work has gone on, without an increase in the hands for a year. The Request for an increase may perhaps be deferred for a year more.

Subject:—

Proposal to sanction the appointment of two additional translators in the Chief Court.

S Reference is invited to my Final Note dated 23rd March 1922, submitting for the gracious approval of His Highness, the opinion of the Council that parties should not be charged for the translation of documents in Kanarese in the Chief Court, as there is a translation staff in the Court which should be able to cope with the work. Orders having been issued accordingly, the Chief Court have now

R stated that with the discontinuance of the practice of charging fees to parties, outside translators who used to be employed at the cost of the latter are no longer available and that as the parties are not restricted in the choice of documents for translation, work has considerably increased, with the result that the existing translation staff is unable to keep abreast of the current work and that consequently there is accumulation of arrears. They have accord-

R ingly solicited sanction to the addition of two men on Rs. 50/- each for the translation section of the Chief Court.

Mps 8 & 9 of the Office Note. For reasons mentioned in my minute dated 21st August 1923, I was of opinion that there was no necessity for strengthening the translation staff as proposed.

Mr. 9 of the Office Note. The Dewan however considered that one hand on Rs.50/- might be sanctioned, if the Judges can find money by reappropriation.

Mr. 10 - do - The question was considered at the last meeting of the Council, and the Council are of the following opinion:-

"The appointment of one additional translator on Rs. 50/- for the Chief Court may be sanctioned, the cost to be met by reappropriation of sanctioned grant in the budget of the Judicial Department"

The opinion of the Council may be graciously approved.

Adverting to Government Order No.J.5160/Cts. 90-21-5 dated 9th May 1922 directing that the levy of translation --- charges in appeals preferred to the Chief Court be discontinued and the work attended to by the translation staff, and in continuation of my letter No.R.O.C.249/21-22 dated 9th June 1922, in which it was stated that the effect of the new rule on the translation work in the Chief Court would be watched for a few months and further reference made to Government for an increase of hands if found necessary, I am directed to state as follows:--

2. It had been the practice in the Chief Court for many years previously and until the receipt of the Government Order of 9th May 1922, to employ special outside translators at parties' cost to translate bulky records or those containing a large number of documents; and no doubt regard must have been had to such outside assistance being available when the number of translators on the permanent staff was originally fixed. The new arrangement has tended to a mate: increase in the quantity of matter to be translated --- parties being no longer restrained to the same extent as before in the choice of documents to be included in the paper books by a consideration of the charges for translation as one element in the necessary that the establishment should be increased by two hands, and as the work is a responsible one involving some previous training, it is necessary that the pay -- should be fixed at Rs.50/- each in order to attract suitable men. I am to request that Government may be pleased to sanction the addition of two men on Rs.50/- each for the translation section of the Chief Court and to make provision therefor in the Budget of 1923-1924.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No.P.10630/Cts.214-22-2 dated the 5th May 1923 enquiring how the number of documents for translation has increased and whether most of the documents are not translated in the original court.

In reply I am to state that the increase in the number of documents for translation has been explained in para 2 of my ~~xxxxx~~ previous letter dated 31st March 1923, the reason being that parties are no longer ~~xxxxxxx~~ restrained in the choice of documents to be translated by a consideration of the charges to be incurred by them and usually ask for a larger number to be translated, than formerly, when they were required to pay the fees for special

special translators. It has to be emphasised at the same time that the number of translators on the permanent staff, having been fixed originally at a time when the assistance of special outside translators paid by parties was available is no longer found adequate to cope with the work when such outside assistance has ceased to be provided.

I am to add that translations of documents are not usually made in the original courts, and are rarely if ever included in the records of cases.

SIR,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No.P.277-Cts. 214-22-4 dated the 13th July 1923 requesting to be furnished with the opinion of the Judges as to why it should not be laid down that documents in Kanarese in appeals etc. before the Chief Court need not be translated and that they may be printed as they are.

2. In reply, I am to state that the proposal will detract very considerably from the value of the paper book as a help to the Judges in the study of records, and to counsel both in getting up and presenting their cases in Court. Judges and advocates are not ordinarily all of them sufficiently well versed in Kannada to be able to dispense with the aid of a careful English rendering of vernacular documents; and while even now the originals are when necessary referred to, a rule that documents shall be printed as they are without an English translation will entail a considerable loss of the valuable time of the Court and of Counsel, and necessitate reliance on casual and extempore, and hence more or less hasty and inaccurate, renderings of the originals in the course of arguments. These are considerations which in the the opinion of the Judges far outweigh the small expenditure on the extra staff required to cope with the work of translation. It may be mentioned here that the staff has to deal not only with documentary evidence so called, but also with the pleadings and (where the depositions of witnesses are as at present in Munsiffs' Courts recorded in Kannada, with the depositions also when required.

3. On the whole, therefore, and having regard to the fact that the business of the Chief Court (including arguments, decisions, etc., is conducted in English, the Judges do not expect any advantage, but on the contrary apprehend a considerable measure of inconvenience and loss of time and efficiency, from the proposal in question.

SIR,

With reference to your letter No.P.811/Cts.214-22-6 of the 9th August 1923, requesting to be informed whether the Judges of the Chief Court are not given personal clerks, etc., I am directed to state as follows :--

2. Personal clerks were being attached for duty with Judges since 1893, when the entertainment of three additional hands was sanctioned for the purpose by Government. When the establishment of the Chief Court was revised as a whole in 1911, the total number of officials was reduced by two hands, and the personal clerks became merged in the general staff, and this has continued to be the case at the revisions of 1916 and 1918. The arrangement since then has been to depute a clerk from the general staff for duty with a particular Judge, whenever required. The work of the clerks so deputed is not confined to reading Kanarese documents and depositions; they have to attend to requisitions for references, fair copy Judges' notes and drafts, be in charge of their papers generally, and so forth. With the increase in the work to be done, particularly of typing work with the Chief Judge, the question of making special provision in this respect may require consideration hereafter.
